Film Screening of A Path Appears: Sex Trafficking in the USA

Time: 12:00pm

Location: Gittis 2

A Path Appears: Sex Trafficking in the USA investigates young women in America forced into a life of prostitution and the innovative programs that have evolved to achieve remarkable results in empowering their lives.

Human trafficking, a form of modern-day slavery, remains one of the most brutal and widespread human rights violations in the world today. UNICEF estimates that 1.2 million children are trafficked every year around the world, and the International Labour Organization (ILO) calculates that almost 21 million people are victims of forced labor worldwide, including 4.5 million who are sexually trafficked. In the United States, the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children estimates that at least one hundred thousand juveniles are sexually trafficked each year, most often by local traffickers, more commonly referred to as pimps.

The International Human Rights Advocates welcome you to join us for a screening of the film A Path Appears: Sex Trafficking in the USA, which investigates young women in America forced into a life of prostitution and the innovative programs that have evolved to achieve remarkable results in empowering their lives.

Food will be provided by TPIC.
