Too Little Too Late? A discussion of the effects of the Paris Climate Agreement

Time: 12:00pm - 1:00pm

Location: Gittis 2

Join ACS in a discussion of the Paris Climate Agreement with Penn Law Professor Cary Coglianese; Rutgers Climate Scientist Professor Asa Rennermalm; and Harvard Economist Professor Joe Aldy. Our panelists will talk about what the Agreement means for American climate policy; the economic impact of the Agreement; and the effect the 1.5-2 °C degree temperature increase stipulated to in the Agreement will have on the globe. Lunch will be provided.
