

Today is August 13, 2015 Day Week Month All Events

Add Event

February 9, 2015

Back

Search Calendar

The U.S. Response to Throwaway Children:
From Orphan Trains to the Current Migrant Crisis

University of Pennsylvania Law School
Fife Auditorium
3501 Sanson Street, Philadelphia

February 9, 2015
8:30 am - 10:30 am

The United States has historically faced the challenge of responding to the needs of children without parents to provide for their care. The Orphan Train provides a historical context for today's social, moral and legal crisis created by large numbers of unaccompanied migrant children arriving at our borders.

The University of Pennsylvania's Field Center for Children's Policy, Practice & Research, an interdisciplinary center comprised of some of the nation's leading experts in child welfare and focus on reforming the systems that are charged with protecting children, is holding a Community Symposium featuring three of the nation's leading experts on this topic.

Chris James-Brown, CEO of Child Welfare League of America, the nation's oldest and largest membership-based child welfare organization who has been at the forefront of the current crisis facing migrant children.

Cindy Connolly, PhD, RN, PNP, Associate Professor of Nursing at the University of Pennsylvania and Field Center Faculty Director whose research analyzes the forces that have shaped children's health care delivery and family policy in the United States.

Howard Davidson, JD, Director of the American Bar Association's Center on Children and the Law, and an instrumental voice regarding immigration and children's rights.

Special Guest: Christina Baker Kline, Author of Orphan Train

This symposium is free and open to the public, however seating is limited.

Pre-registration is required. Registration starts January 1, 2015 on the Field Center's website:

www.fieldcenterupenn.org

Continuing education credit is available for Social Workers and attorneys.

This program has been approved for 2 CLEs for Social Workers (2.0) and 2 ethics credit hours for Pennsylvania lawyers (2.0). CLE credits may be available for other jurisdictions as well. Please register for continuing education credit and help provided in the form of cash or check payable to The Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania.

Contact Info:

Cheryl Hardy

Director, Legal Education Programs

(215) 746-8774

chardy1@law.upenn.edu

Related Content:

- RSVP to the Field Center

U.S. Response to Throwaway Children: From Orphan Trains to the Current Migrant Crisis

Time: 8:30am - 10:30am

Community symposium with The Field Center for Children's Policy, Practice & Research. Special Guest: Christina Baker Kline, Author of Orphan Train. This symposium is free and open to the public, but you must pre-register by Thursday, February 5, 2015 to attend. A continental breakfast will be provided.

This program has been approved for 2.0 ethics credits for Pennsylvania lawyers. CLE credit may be available in other jurisdictions as well.

Attendees seeking CLE credit should bring separate payment in the amount of $30.00 cash or check made payable to The Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania.

RSVP here

The United States has historically faced the challenge of responding to the needs of children without parents to provide for their care. The Orphan Train provides a historical context for today's social, moral and legal crisis created by large numbers of unaccompanied migrant children arriving at our borders.

The University of Pennsylvania's Field Center for Children's Policy, Practice & Research is holding a Community Symposium featuring three of the nation's leading experts on this topic:

Chris James-Brown, CEO of Child Welfare League of America, the nation's oldest and largest membership-based child welfare organization who has been at the forefront of the current crisis facing migrant children.

Cindy Connolly, PhD, RN, PNP, Associate Professor of Nursing at the University of Pennsylvania and Field Center Faculty Director whose research analyzes the forces that have shaped children's health care delivery and family policy in the United States.

Howard Davidson, JD, Director of the American Bar Association's Center on Children and the Law, and an instrumental voice regarding immigration and children's rights.

This symposium is free and open to the public, but you must pre-register by Thursday, February 5, 2015 to attend. A continental breakfast will be provided. This program has been approved for 2.0 ethics credits for Pennsylvania lawyers. CLE credit may be available in other jurisdictions as well. Attendees seeking CLE credit should bring separate payment in the amount of $30.00 cash or check made payable to The Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania.

Add to my calendar

Edit this event

3501 Sansom Street, Philadelphia, PA 19104
215.898.7483