

KEEDY CUP 2017

The Moot Court Board of the University of Pennsylvania Law School presents the 2017 Keedy Cup.

This year's Finalists will argue Bank of America Corp. v. City of Miami, a pending U.S. Supreme Court Case testing whether the Fair Housing Act authorizes city governments to sue banks for mortgage lending practices that allegedly discriminate against borrowers on account of their race.

This year's finalists:

Andrew D'Aversa was born in New Jersey and raised in Pennsylvania and Maryland. He graduated in 2014 from the Schreyer Honors College at the Pennsylvania State University with degrees in Business Management and History. While at Penn Law, he has served as a Littleton Fellow and as the Symposium Editor for the University of Pennsylvania Law Review. After finishing his final year at Penn Law, Andrew will work at Ballard Spahr LLP and clerk for Judge Noel Hillman of the United States District Court for the District of New Jersey and Judge Anthony Scirica of the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit.

Aaseesh Polavarapu was born and raised in Brentwood, Tennessee. He graduated summa cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Before returning to Penn for law school, Aaseesh worked as a Senior Analyst at Kobre & Kim LLP in New York City. He currently serves as an Executive Editor on the University of Pennsylvania Law Review. He is also a Littleton Fellow for the first-year Legal Practice Skills Program and a member of the South Asian Law Students Association. Upon graduation, Aaseesh will join the Litigation Department at Cravath, Swaine & Moore in New York. In 2018, he will serve as a law clerk to the Honorable Beryl A. Howell, Chief Judge of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. The following year, he will clerk for the Honorable Michael A. Chagares of the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit.

John "Jack" Wray graduated with honors from Boston University in 2010 before commissioning in the Navy as a surface warfare officer. While in the Navy, Jack deployed twice—once to circumnavigate South America and then as navigator on a guided missile destroyer's maiden deployment to the South China Sea. At Penn, Jack has been a member of the Supreme Court Clinic, a senior editor on the University of Pennsylvania Law Review, and president of the Penn Mock Trial Association. After graduation, Jack will clerk for the Honorable Gene Pratter in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania and hopes to pursue a career in public interest.

Andrew Steinmetz, 27, grew up in Yorktown Heights, New York. In 2011, he graduated magna cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania with a degree in Communication and Public Service. Before law school, Andrew briefly pursued a professional acting career, which culminated in a small guest role on Law & Order: SVU. He also served for two years as Chief of Staff to Dr. Ezekiel J. Emanuel, a leading bioethics and health policy expert. At Penn Law, Andrew currently serves as a board member of the Penn Health Law & Policy Project, a senior editor of the Journal of Constitutional Law, and a Littleton Fellow in the Legal Practice Skills Program. Following graduation, Andrew will join the Armonk, New York office of Boies, Schiller & Flexner. He and his wife, Janey, just celebrated their first wedding anniversary.