

October 4, 2017

Justice Thomas Lee: Data-Driven Originalism

Time: 12:00pm

Location: Gittis 213, Kushner Classroom

Join Penn Law's chapter of the Federalist Society in welcoming Justice Thomas Lee to Penn Law. Justice Lee, an Associate Justice of the Utah Supreme Court, is a prominent advocate for Originalism. He will discuss his current work on how corpus linguistics can aid us in understanding what the original public meaning of the Constitution was. What does data-driven originalism look like? Join us in Gittis 213 at noon on Wednesday, October 4, to find out! Thai food from Pattaya will be served.

Contact Info:

Paul Cozzi (cozzi@pennlaw.upenn.edu)