Ilan Goldenberg: The Israeli-Palestinian Conflict and Peace Negotiations

Time: 12:00pm

Location: Tanenbaum 145, Gittis Classroom

Mr. Goldenberg will be discussing American interests in Israeli-Palestinian relations, the U.S. role in the 2015 negotiations, and the changing Middle Eastern landscape.

Interested in a free non-pizza lunch? Interested in learning about the US role in Israeli-Palestinian peace negotiations and broader Middle East? Then Join the Penn Law Students for Israel and Penn Law International Programming in welcoming Ilan Goldenberg, an expert on American Israeli-Palestinian relations and American Middle East policy, on Tuesday, October 17 in Tanenbaum 145 at 12:00 pm.

Mr. Goldenberg will be discussing American interests in Israeli-Palestinian relations, the U.S. role in the 2015 negotiations, and the changing Middle Eastern landscape. Mr. Goldenberg is Senior Fellow and Director of the Middle East Security Program at the Center for New American Security. He is a foreign policy and defense expert with extensive government experience covering Iran's nuclear program, the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, and the broader challenges facing the Middle East. Prior to CNAS, he served as the chief of staff to the U.S. Special Envoy to Israeli-Palestinian Negotiations at the U.S. Department of State. From 2012 to 2013, Mr. Goldenberg served as a Senior Professional Staff Member on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee covering Middle East issues for Chairmen Kerry and Menendez. In that capacity, he acted as one of the lead drafters of the Syria Transition Support Act which provided additional authorities to arm the Syrian opposition.
