The Case for Originalism

Time: 12:00pm - 1:15pm

Location: Gittis 213, Kushner Classroom

On October 25, join Penn's Federalist Society in welcoming Professor Lawrence Solum, who will be presenting the "Case for Originalism." As a professor at Georgetown University Law Center, Lawrence Solum is one of originalism's most prominent advocates. In 2017, he testified at the confirmation hearings in support of then-Judge Neil Gorsuch. Professor William Ewald will be providing responsive commentary, and will critique constitutional originalism. The event will be in Gittis 213 at 12:00 PM on Wednesday, October 25. Chinese food from Beijing at Penn will be served.
