Paul Clement: The Legacy of Hobby Lobby. At noon on Wednesday, January 31, please join the Penn Federalist Society in welcoming Paul Clement. Clement was Solicitor General of the United States from 2004 to 2008. He has argued over 90 Supreme Court cases, including McConnell v. FEC, Rumsfeld v. Padilla, and Hobby Lobby v. Burwell. His talk will focus on the Court's seminal decision in Hobby Lobby, which recognized, under a theory of corporate personhood, that corporations can have religious freedom rights. Professor David Skeel will be providing responsive commentary. The event is in Gittis 213, and subs from Jimmy Johns will be served!
