

March 28, 2018

Neuroscience, Morality, and the Criminal Law

Contact Info:

Paul Cozzi; cozzi@pennlaw.upenn.edu

Time: 12:00pm

Location: Gittis 213

Gittis 213

On Wednesday (March 28) at noon, the Penn Law Federalist Society will host a panel on neuroscience, morality, and the criminal law. The panel will include Penn Law's Professor Stephen Morse, Rutgers Law's Dennis Patterson, and William and Mary Law School's Peter Alces. They will be discussing issues surrounding Peter Alces' recent book, The Moral Conflict of Law and Neuroscience. The event will be in Gittis 213 and Chinese food from Beijing at Penn will be served.

Feedback