

November 16, 2020

What Can the C-Suite and Boardroom Do to Promote a More Inclusive Workforce and Racial Equity?

Contact Info:

Nadia M. Jannetta, Esq.
 Managing Director
 Institute for Law and Economics
 njannett@law.upenn.edu

Time: 1:00pm - 2:00pm

Location: Via Zoom

This is the second program in the Conference on Racial Equity in Corporate Governance. Over a series of three panel discussions, we will be joined by business leaders and top legal thinkers to explore how to increase racial diversity in the C-suite and boardroom, how corporate leaders can promote a more inclusive workforce and racial equity, and what (if anything) a rebalanced system of corporate governance can do to promote racial equity.

The discussion will examine strategies and best practices for how boards and executive leaders can advance progress at their companies on the critical issues of inclusion and racial equity. Board, Human Capital Management, Institutional Investor and Technology leaders will share perspectives on the important questions of managing expectations from constituents inside and outside the corporation, the role of the corporation in its community and measurement of progress on inclusion and racial equity issues.

Panel:

Dane E. Holmes (CEO and Co-Founder, Eskalera; Former Executive Vice President, Partner and Global Head of Human Capital Management, Goldman Sachs)

Jonathan McBride (Former Managing Director, Global Head of Inclusion and Diversity, BlackRock; Advisor to Boards, CEOs and Executive Teams)

Phuong Phillips (Chief Legal Officer, Zynga)

Pat Wadors (Chief Talent Officer, ServiceNow; Former Senior Vice President, Global Talent, LinkedIn; Board Member, Accolade and Zenefits)

Hosted by: Arthur and Toni Rembe Rock Center for Corporate Governance and Stanford Center for Racial Justice, Stanford Law School

To register: click here.