

Graham vs. Knowles. Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. Error from the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County. Decided March 2, 1891, again affirmed May 25, 1891.

FALSE PRETENSES—OBTAINING ENDORSEMENTS ON NOTE.

An indictment for procuring one to endorse accused's promissory note by false pretense charged that one false pretense consisted in falsely stating that the property of the accused was not encumbered by a lien. Held, that the charge was not sustained by proof, that in response, to a question as to the ownership of his property, the accused falsely stated that he did not owe a dollar to any man.

Sharp vs. State. Supreme Court of New Jersey. Error to the Court of Quarter Sessions of Gloucester County.

Decided June 4, 1891.

PUBLISHERS' NOTE.

In April of this year the D. B. Canfield Company, Limited, publishers of the AMERICAN LAW REGISTER, became involved in financial difficulties. The publication of the magazine was suspended and an assignment made for the benefit of creditors. The copyright, subscription list, etc., has passed into the possession of the University of Pennsylvania Press, who have undertaken to furnish the subscribers with the remaining unpublished numbers of the magazine for 1891. This involves the publishing of nine numbers of the magazine, from April to December inclusive. The late management had on hand at the time of their assignment a considerable amount of matter, which the present owners have given to their readers in this and the May and April numbers. The remaining numbers for 1891 are to be sent to the subscribers before the 20th of January, thereby making good, as far as possible, the promise of the D. B. Canfield Company, Limited. It will be the endeavor of the University of Pennsylvania Press to supply to the subscribers for the remainder of the year, a periodical which shall be, in size and in general characteristics, similar to that to which they have been accustomed to find in the previous numbers of the AMERICAN LAW REGISTER.

With the commencement of the new year the Editorial Management mentioned on the fourth page of the cover will take charge of the magazine.

The January number of the AMERICAN LAW REGISTER AND REVIEW will be in the mails on the 25th of January. Hereafter the magazine will appear promptly and regularly on the 15th of the month.
