

However, despite its faults and despite its obvious limitations, "The Law of the Press" should be welcomed by the legal profession, as well as by newspaper men.

John J. Sullivan.

The University of Pennsylvania.

---

OTHER BOOKS RECEIVED.

CASES ILLUSTRATING GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF THE LAW OF CONTRACT. By John C. Miles, Kt., M. A., B. C. L., of the Inner Temple, and J. C. Brierly, M. A., B. C. L., of Lincoln's Inn, Barristers-at-Law. Oxford University Press, New York, 1923, pp. xvi, 528.

DEVELOPMENT OF INTERNATIONAL LAW AFTER THE WORLD WAR. By Otfried Nippold. Translation by Amos Hershey, Ph. D., Professor of Political Science at Indiana University. Oxford University Press, New York, 1923, pp. viii, 241.

EXPENDITURES OF THE RUSSO-JAPANESE WAR. By Goturo Agawa. Oxford University Press, New York, 1923, pp. xvi, 257.

EXPENDITURES OF THE SINO-JAPANESE WAR. By Giichi Ono. Oxford University Press, New York, 1923, pp. xv, 330.

HANDBOOK OF COMMON LAW PLEADING. By Benjamin J. Shipman. Third edition by Henry Winthrop Ballantine, Professor of Law at the University of Michigan. West Publishing Company, St. Paul, Minn., 1923, pp. 644.

HISPANIC-AMERICAN RELATIONS WITH THE UNITED STATES. By William Spence Robertson, Professor of History at the University of Illinois. Oxford University Press, New York, 1923, pp. 470.

INTERNATIONAL LAW, ITS NATURE AND INTERESTS. By Philip Marshall Brown, Professor of International Law at Princeton University. Macmillan Company, New York, 1923, pp. x, 173.

OFFICIAL GERMAN DOCUMENTS RELATING TO THE WORLD WAR. Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Oxford University Press, New York, 1923, pp. viii, 684; xi, 676.

REVUE DE DROIT MARITIME COMPARÉ, Volume II. By Leopold Dor. Libraire Général de Droit et de Jurisprudence, Paris, 1923, pp. ix, 826.

THE LAW APPLIED TO MOTOR VEHICLES. Charles J. Babbitt, of the Massachusetts Bar. Third edition by Arthur W. Blakemore, of the Massachusetts Bar. John Byrne & Company, Washington, 1923, pp. clxxxiv, 1654.

THE RATIONAL BASIS OF LEGAL INSTITUTIONS. By various authors. Modern Legal Philosophy Series. Macmillan Company, New York, 1923, pp. xxxii, 603.

WAR AND ARMAMENT EXPENDITURES OF JAPAN. By Giichi Ono. Oxford University Press, New York, 1923, pp. xviii, 314.